

MISSION CHAMELEON - INTERNET PLAYABLE!

Welcome To The War

Four years ago, a project in artificial life began, with the intent of creating autonomous machines that would possess an instinctual urge to build. Leaving these robotic creatures in a hostile environment would mean that the construction of a non-terrestrial colony could be accomplished in months. Because of their insectoid intelligence and appearance, the creatures were nicknamed Bugs.

Although relatively small in number, some bug colonies will develop aggressive and territorial behavior, and develop weaponry to eliminate their human "competition". A special task force was formed to destroy any colonies that have become unmanageable. With state-of-the-art weaponry and camouflage technology, they can pass unnoticed into the heart of the Bug colonies and destroy their production sites.

"Addictive, non-stop action! Once you start, you won't to stop!" - Javier Mendez - Game Reviewer

"You'll play this one for hours at a time! In fact, I'm gonna go and play right now!" - Tom Hu - Programmer
